Danny Vash

Biography

Danny Vash and Nite Wolf are a three piece power trio from Albuquerque, New Mexico in south-west United States. Their hard-hitting sound is a combination of Danny Vash on lead guitars and vocals, Bill Weber on drums and Mike Alberts on bass. Together they grind out crunchy riffs, complex melodies and songs with a classic hard rock sound. Danny Vash writes all the music including the lyrics. Their first album "TAKIN' CONTROL" was recorded and produced by Danny Vash and Mike Alberts at their studio in the Sandia mountains of New Mexico.

Vash has musical roots that started in the San Francisco Bay Area. He has played with several of northern California's top hard rock and metal bands before moving to the south-west. He has shared the stage with a number of national acts and helped produce CD's for several local musicians in Albuquerque New Mexico. 2015 has been a stellar year for the songwriter as he continues to belt out mind-bending songs with screaming guitar work, and strong vocals with catchy hooks.

Danny Vash and Nite Wolf are paving their way into the global rock scene with the success of their 2015 release "TAKIN' CONTROL". The first song from the album won an award for "Best hard rock song of the month" with the Akademie of music in Hollywood California. The bands fan base grows steadily and they continue gaining global notoriety. Their song 'Passion Dreamer' was picked up by Berkshire Media Group and affiliates along with the AKADEMEA of music, including radio program directors of various FM networks and worldwide networks and that has been one of the key events that has been driving all the radio play. With these two great companies behind Vash, radio play happened fast and has not stopped.

All of this activity snowballed into increasingly heavy rotation throughout 2015 for "Takin Control" and the momentum shows no signs of stopping. Good music gets played and we now know that rock has a heart and soul in New Mexico. Vash is committed to pushing his brand of hard edged rock to the world.

In November 2015, Danny was picked up by leading indie label Blue Pie Records USA and was signed to a global distribution and publishing admin agreement. The label is dropping the second album in April 2016, called "Hard Life".

As the CEO of the label Damien Reilly says:

"It is refreshing to know that rock still lives in this EDM age. Danny takes me back to 1976 when bands like Ram Jam, ACDC, Cream and Led Zeppelin defined a generational sound. Danny brings passion and commitment to rock. You can't beat organic radio play. Danny and his music have proven that in today's rock world, good music gets played on radio. The new album "Hard Life" is all the first album was and more. You only have to play it once and it digs music worms into your brain making you want more and more."
